Aaron Slick Will Use Arena Style Stage

If you want to see a real old-fashioned melodrama, hiss the villain and cheer the hero, keep your eyes open, for "Aaron Slick from Punkin Crick" will soon be arriving at BJC.

The three-act play, a farce, will be an experimental arena theater production. The stage is to be placed in the center of the audience, allowing a full view of the players.

"Aaron Slick," the year's first play to be produced by Delta Psi Omega, the national dramatic society, is under the direction of Marjory Kinsey and Warren Pepperdine.

The play will be presented November 14 and 15. Included in the cast are: Bill Moulton, Aaron Slick; Rose Brunney, Mrs. Rosy Berry; Malcolm McDonald, Mr. Wilbur Merriew; Marlene Rein, Gladys May Merriew; Mary Lynn Hepner, the Girl in Red; and Alberta Dewey, Little Sis Riggs; Bob White, Clarence Greene.

"Mums" For Game and Dance on Sale Nov. 1-8

"Mums" will be the official corsage for the homecoming game and dance.

As they have for the past four years, the Associated Women will sponsor the mum-corsage sale again this year. According to Susan Hamilton, AW president, the corsages will be more beautiful and elaborate than ever. Blue B's will adorn each mum, and gay ribbons will stream from the huge flower. These corsages will be worn both at the game in the afternoon and for the formal dance in the evening.

All the mums will be ordered in advance, during the week of November 1 to 8. Fellows may place their orders in the main hall or in room 212. They will be provided with personal cards to be included in the cellophane bags with the mums. Mums, which have been ordered in advance, may be picked up at the AW booth on the field, before the game, or at the dance for those not attending the game.

After the smoke cleared away last Tuesday, Oct. 24, 1950, Bill Austad, vice president of the BJC student body, announced the results.

The new freshman president is Bill Gottenberg. Ed Hedges won the vice-presidency and Hallie Morris is the secretary-treasurer. The representatives are Paul Quong, La Var March, and Deloris Anderson.

Good luck in your new jobs and we know you will represent your class well.

Trumpet Players Like Hen's Teeth

The main drawback for a dance band is the lack of trumpet players.

A dance band for BJC would be a great asset to the school in that it would further union nights and the dance band would have a good "in" for playing all school dances.

We all have favorite numbers we like to hear at a dance and most of the time the juke box doesn't have the selections—a lot of them are "just for listen and not for dance."

At a meeting of prospective dance band members it was decided to form a small "combo" of four or five pieces to sort of jam out a little music until a bona fide dance band can be formed.

A lot of students have complained union nites are being neglected—the main reason for this is the dance band—not their fault—but the lack of members.

Last year union nites fell off to almost nothing with canned music—after the band started playing Union nite picked up again.

Try to impress upon those really good instrumentalists the importance of a dance band. You are the ones who will benefit.

Rehearsals Begin 'Wives of Windsor'

Tentative cast for "The Merry Wives of Windsor," first all-school play, has been chosen, and part rehearsals have begun. The play, a comedy of Shakespeare, concerns the attempts of a rather weighty "Casanova" to play Romeo with the wives of two of the leading townsmen.

Cast in the roles of Falstaff, the knight who considers himself such a prize, is Keith Tombrink. John King is playing Mr. Page, while Mr. Ford, the other townsman, is portrayed by Joe McMains. The Mistresses Ford and Page are played by Gloria Crandall, and Marliese Freeman, respectively. Dorothy Murray has the part of Anne Page, while Fenton, the hero, is played by Don Luce. Others in the cast are Warren Pepperdine, Marvin Gardener, Larry Breeze, Roy Brown, Rogue Brown, and Chuck Gunnerson.

Harold Wennstrom, dramatic coach, is directing the play, and Marlene Rein is assisting as student director. Stage manager is Ted Mitchell; Jack Mott is in charge of scenery and set building; Ronald Cochran will do the lighting; and Pat Shubert is costume mistress. The play will be presented Dec. 1 and 2, and anyone interested in trying out for a small part is urged to contact Mr. Wennstrom or anyone in the cast.

Free Annuals For Students This Year

Last year a policy was made that students holding activity tickets and having their pictures taken would receive their annuals without any extra charges. This policy is to be carried on this year.

Class pictures for the Les Bois will be taken from November 13 to 17. Mr. Frank Carr will be at the college to take these pictures during this week. This is the only week that students will be able to have their pictures taken. No picture, no annual. The charge is three poses for 75c; the student will retain his other two poses.

Bids have been let and received for the printing and engraving. Mountain States Press, Inc., will do the work. Working under Mountain States Press will be Idaho Artcraft Engraving Co.

A Cowboy Club is being formed on BJC campus by Beverly Brennan and Gerri Privett. The qualifications for this club is to have a cowboy hat and a squirt gun—after one becomes a full fledged member he or she gets gold spurs.

Homecoming Chmn Appoints Helpers

Charles Gunnerson, homecoming chairman, announced appointment of the committee heads as follows:

Dance committee, Jack Mott; parade committee, Bill Moulton; pep rally committee, Lyle Cunningham; game halftime committee, Edward Heath; publicity committee, George Clement; queen selection committee, Rose Brunney; float judging committee, Jim Buckholz; alumni committee, Wilma Carter.

The proposed schedule of events are:

Thursday evening:
Bonfire and burning of the "B".
Beard judging (sponsored by IK's and Valkyries). Introduction of the team. Dance (school orchestra if possible).

Friday:
Parade, 12:00. Game, 2:00
Halftime: 1) Show floats, present trophy. 2) Present queen.
Formal dance, 9:00. 1) Crowning of the queen.

Choice of the queen will be determined by a three-point program outlined by the student council, according to Gunnerson. First, each organization on the campus will nominate a candidate for queen. Of these, five will be chosen by popular vote of the male student body. From these five the football team will choose the queen and her four attendants.

A theme-less homecoming will be the order of the day. This also, was a suggestion from the council. They felt the floats would show more quality and originality if not limited to one idea.

Examinations will be over Wednesday at 5 and classes will close at 10 a.m. Friday of homecoming week. Gunnerson said this information had been cleared through Dean Matthew's office.

60 Pints of Blood Sent to Needy

The Pi Sigs wish to thank all persons who contributed blood on Friday, Oct. 20. This blood will find its way to many needy people at home and on the battle field. Thanks to the many donors, the drive was a success and approximately 60 pints of blood were turned over to the Red Cross.

WSSF APPEALS FOR DOLLARS

"One world" is a phrase which, after being kicked around by politicians and pushed into other campaigns, still carries the meaning for which it was coined.

A world in one would mean an homogenous form of life with equal opportunities and equal rations of food for all people.

One world would mean considerably more to scholars in Greece, India, Germany, if they had food and books.

International Club under the direction of Dr. Baker appeals to the student body to give to the WSSF. This is the only organization whose aim is to help the scholars of war-ravaged countries go back to school.

The world Student Service Fund provides aid for university groups in these nations. Its funds are divided indiscriminately in Europe and Asia. This aid falls into five major classes: food, clothing, medical aid, books and housing facilities. It is unique in its purpose.

Give what you can and feel that you have a part in bringing one world to earth.

P.D.

YOUSE IS GOOD GUYS

Hey! Hey! What kind of a school is this, anyway? If you want to know, it's a remarkable one. Here's what makes it that way.

We never see scratches on desk tops. People here have finally seen the light, viz, leaving your carved initials for posterity just ain't practical. Posterity doesn't appreciate your efforts.

We never see nasty little citations in the sandboxes (M and F) and that's the final test of a much higher education.

We never have to fight our way through a barage of cigarette butts and paper wads in these revered halls.

That's the way it should be; that's the day it's going to stay.

P.Q.

Prof. (irritated)—If there are any morons in the room, please stand up.

A long pause and a lone frosh rose.

Prof.—What? Do you consider yourself a moron?

Frosh.—Well, not exactly that, sir; but I do hate to see you standing all by yourself.

Why Mr. Cantalupe—what you just said. Reading themes in Freshman Comp shouldn't make anyone that cynical about the literacy of the whole human race.

Mrs. Burke asked her modern literature class to find her a man who was 40—and happy. None of her ambitious students have done so, because they know "there ain't no sech thing"—as a man who is 40 and happy too.

Al Supplee (when asked if he knew what an "inquiring mind" meant): "Certainly! When an Inquiring Mind goes to a game the first thing he asks is, 'Who's got the bottle?'"

CLEMENT TALKS

TO EACH HIS OWN

Last week you journeyed to Jerome where the football team battled with Albion. Some of you went for a good drunk, others for a change of sex and the rest went to see the football game. You actually managed to show that you had some life in you. Would you label all that noise, school spirit or the big show-off? If it was school spirit why don't you spread some of that stuff around here. There's more spirit in a short glass of 2.0 beer than you could stir up around this campus in a decade.

Everybody wonders why there is no school spirit but nobody ever does anything about it. People are just like sheep, they've got to be led. You'll never have any school spirit till you get organized. Even then you'll have a tough time because all the people are not like all the sheep. Some will follow the leaders, others will follow their noses and the rest will just go slipin' around.

This campus would be a politician's paradise. He'd never have to worry about a platform. Every year the candidates come up with the same slogan, "More school spirit", the same slogan is always waiting for next year's crop.

This week you had an election of freshman officers. During the campaigning you heard school spirit mentioned more than several times. Any politician can talk and make promises but it takes a hairy man or a sexy woman to get things done.

You have elected five freshman officers now watch them go to work. For the first week they will rush up and down the halls with a bunch of posters and you will hear of their many plans. After that you won't hear or see anything of any plans but there will always be posters.

Some of you voted for these officers because you wanted them to work for you, others voted because they were your buddies or babies while the rest of you just put down your "X".

Those of you who voted for them because you wanted them to work, break out your whips and use them! Let's have a pep assembly before each game. Get the coach and the football players on the stage, they like to be seen just as much as the class officers. Let's have a pep club of at least 50 fire-ball members who know at least 10 snappy yells and five good songs. Get the fire started, then watch it burn.

Gladys Lawther Speaks to Classes

Mrs. Gladys Lawther, northwest secretary of the World Student Service Fund, from Portland, Oregon, was on the Boise Junior College campus Monday, October 23, according to Dean of Men Paul E. Baker.

Her objective in coming to Boise at this time was to help prepare the students and faculty for the World Student Service Fund campaign to be held October 30 to November 4.

Mrs. Lawther spoke at 9 a.m. to the introduction to the social sciences class and at 2 p.m. to the combined classes of general sociology and political science. At 12:30 noon she addressed the members of the International Relations club.

The members of this club will conduct the campaign for funds. Co-chairmen of the campaign are Barbara Black and Ruth Lyman. Last year the students and faculty contributed $133.20 to this fund.

UNION TALK

Spending most of my day in the union, I gathered some idle chat-which might be news to those who waste their time in class or the library.

It seems that a few fortunate individuals already have their tickets to homecoming. Included in the list of rarities are Buzz (love boy) Wallace and Madeline Eltvedt, Rod Eisenberg and Ger-Privett, Mary Waits and Loren (Florence) Tedrow, Larry Jack- and Susan Hamilton.

One of our romantic football players and his "sweetie" were sitting in front of the union the other day as Bill Oliver walked. Bill was heard to remark, "See, I used to sit in front of a union like that. — My wife is going to have a baby in a month." "Wonder if there should be a moral to this story?"

What is this we hear about Al Apple and Jimmy Joe going steady?

Here's a funny heard on Bob Edwell. The other night he showed up at Moore's Curb Service minus a shirt and sox. He blames on his poor laundry service.

News drifts over from the Ad building that Dick Bader is scheduled to do an African toe dance in the talent assembly. Speaking of dances, we heard that Darrell gave a ballet demonstration after Union Night a few weeks ago. Its really remarkable how these football players seem so adaptable to the finer things of life.

It came as quite a surprise when we learned that Bob Stevens wasn't being initiated into the K's but had on his ordinary everyday clothes.

BOXERS NEEDED

We want a boxing team, said Coach Erickson Thursday. For details see him in the gym Monday, Oct. 31.

BJC's Student Union Has Historical Past

Do you realize what a wonderful asset the student union is to our campus? Leisure and relaxation is a part of every student's life on the campus and at Boise Junior College we usually find ourselves enjoying our free periods relaxing at the student union.

The student union is not only a place to eat lunch, drink coffee, play cards, relax, and talk over the latest bits of gossip and get together with the gang, but it is an excellent place for campaigning and formulating ideas for dances and programs.

All of these functions are part of the campus life, therefore we know all this, but what do you know about the history of the student union; the future of the student union?

Do you know when it was built, why it was built, who promoted the construction, how much it cost to construct and who owns it. If not, read this article and you will find all these answers and more.

The land on which Boise Junior College is now situated was granted to the Boise Junior College district for the use of educational purposes only.

The old college moved over to the new campus in the year of 1940.

During the student's leisure time they had no place to go for relaxation, to meet their friends or to eat their lunch.

President Chaffee saw the need for a place for the students to meet and proposed the building of a student union to the board of trustees. Both the board of trustees of the present Boise Junior College.

Since the land was granted for educational purposes only we turned a portion of the land, 150 by 175 feet to the association which was willing to sponsor and assume the financing of such a building and to maintain it as an auxiliary function of Boise Junior College until the district was able and willing to take over.

In August of 1940 a discussion of a student union was started in a board of trustees meeting of the district, Boise Junior College. At that time President Chaffee was designated to head a committee to work out ways of financing such a building.

They tried in the fall of 1940 to open an eating place at old Airway Inn which stood down where the new stadium now stands. Therefore, not much was done that fall thinking that idea might work out, but it didn't.

The union was financed through bonds sold by a local bond firm to the tune of $20,000. The assets plus the $20,000 in bonds were used to build the student union. When complete the cost was $28,000. To build a union similar to the one we now have it would cost from $60,000 to $75,000.

The student union is now owned by the association. It will belong to the district and Associated Student Body when the bonds are all paid up—in approximately 11 years. The students and district are retiring the bonds.

The district suffers close to a $3,000 a year on the maintenance of the union. The reason for this loss is that the union is maintained for the benefit of the students only and not on a profit basis.

The corner stone was laid Oct. 10, 1941 by student body president, Bill Hillman, and vice-president, Tom Collins.

The union opened on that long awaited day March 3, 1942.

Upon the opening of the union the students of BJC at that time decided to call it the corral in honor of the Broncos. This name died out during the period of World War II.

Each student here at BJC should realize what an asset the student union is to our campus.

The Bewitching Hour

A rusty nail,
An old cow's tail,
A golpher's eye,
A piece of pie,
A dead cat's foot,
A hunk of soot,
Two pair of dice,
Three big fat lice,
A quart of water,
A rich man's daughter,
Plus one old shoe
Make up this brew.

Sprinkle lightly with
A piece of skin,
They won't get thin.
Two dried corn flakes,
For goodness sakes
Pour in the gin,
It's not a sin,
For tonight they fly
Up in the sky.

For flavoring use
A dead bat's wing,
A guy named Bing,
Some black cat's fur,
A cockle-bur,
An eagle's beak,
A young girl's cheek,
At last it's through—
This brew will stew.

They now draw close,
Each takes a dose,
The brew is strong—
It won't take long.
And now they change,
It's not so strange
To see old hags
All dressed in rags,
Because the scene
Is Halloween.

Jody Plays Bridge

More men and women are playing bridge than ever before! In the United States during the years 1948-49 there were 5,956,673 bridge players, 2,485,845 of these were college students, strongly seeking the higher things of life. 10,489,392 silver olive forks were given as prizes.

Starting with these figures as a basis we now turn to the report of the Kansas State Committee on Outdoor Tennis for the year beginning June 13, 1949 and ending one year later.

This report being rather uninteresting we leave it and turn to another report, which covers the manufacture and sale of football helmets. This report contains a picture of a football, and it's a darned good likeness too!

In this report we learn that it takes two men, only three days to make a size 6 1/4 football helmet. Now this is even more amazing when you learn that there are only 365 days in a year!

Now, having noted that there are some 70,000 men and women in this country who can neither read nor write, and that only 4% of these are bald-headed, what are we to conclude? Who is to pay this gigantic national debt? What is to be the effect of this fact on national moral?

Before answering these questions, let us quote from an authority on the subject, a woman who has given the best, or at least some good, years of her life to research, and now takes exactly the stand as outlined in this article.

"I would not," she says in a speech before the Girl's Society for the Fostering of Good Will Between Plumbers and Brick-masons, (the G.S.F.G.B.P. and B. if you are given to slang.) "I would not, at this time care to make any statement that would detract from the glory of millions of Americans yet unborn."

If any of you dear little readers can remember what the major premise of this article was, will you please communicate with the writer?

Oh yes! Bridge.

Well it certainly is funny how many people are playing bridge nowadays. More men and women are playing bridge than ever before! (That sounds very, very familiar. It is just barely possible that it is the sentence with which this article opens. We say so many things in the course of an article that repetitions are quite likely to creep in.)

At any rate, more people are playing bridge than ever before.

BRONCOS OPEN AT HOME

Returning from two road trips, the Boise Broncos will begin a three-game home stand commencing with tonight's battle against the Northern Idaho aggregation. A week from Saturday, Boise will entertain Carbon Junior College.

The big homecoming tilt with Eastern Oregon will follow the Carbon game. The date for homecoming is set at Nov. 10, Friday afternoon.

BJC students and faculty members will have the opportunity next week to make their contributions in the main hall of the administration building.

Dr. Moore Brings Humor to History

Dr. Moore, who was formerly from New York, is a new colleague at BJC. He is married and has two young children.

Before the U.S. army took up three and a half years of his life in which he served over seas in Burma, China, and India — Mr. Moore received his B.A., Ph. and M.D. at the U. of California in Berkeley. He was head of the dept. of social science in Billings, Montana, and also at the Xavier University in Cincinnati, Ohio.

Besides having an interesting background, Mr. Moore is teaching history and is head of the depts. of social and political science here at BJC.

His plans for the future—uh!—a professor.

Mr. Moore finds Boise a friendly and congenial city. With his winning smile and personality, we know he will be a success.

Leadership Class Active This Year

This year the leadership class is active under the instruction of Dr. Baker. At a recent meeting, according to W. L. Gottenberg, the class thoroughly discussed the problems connected with the operation of the stadium. Among suggestions submitted were the following:

1. Have tickets taken and stubs given at outside of stadium, thus eliminating use of stubs every time a spectator goes to the concession booth.
2. Have tickets sold and taken outside the enclosure which would free the ticket booths, these could then be used in addition to concession stand for selling and sending out sellers as the present space allotted is very cramped.
3. Reduce prices of food the last 15 minutes if a lot of food is left over, thereby eliminating total loss.

Business-Education Day Hears Paul Marsh Pittmen

On October 25, 1950, the first meeting of the businessmen and representatives of the schools of Boise, was held at the Boise Hotel. This is the starting of Business Education Day which will be held once a year.

The purpose of the meetings will be to get the education system of Boise better acquainted with the business men and their business establishments.

Mr. Paul Marsh Pittmen was the main speaker of the meeting. The instructors that attend the meeting from BJC were the following: Griffith Bratt, Helen Moore, Obee Hahn, Thelma Allison, J. M. Moore, Robert deNeufville, Dramer Burke, Paul Baker, Robert Hunter, W. L. Gottenberg and Hershey Chatburn.

Following the luncheon, the education representatives split up into groups of nine and visited the business firms for the remainder of the afternoon. The firms represented were: C. C. Anderson, Banks (2), Boise Payette Lumber, Cash Bazar, Falks, Idaho Power, Morrison - Knudsen, Mountain States Telephone Co., Olson Manufacturing, Sears, and Union Pacific.

IK'S SERANADE COPS, BUMS, DRUNKS

"Goodnight Irene" drifted into the jails and joints Tuesday night, Oct. 24, out of the mouths of babes — Intercollegiate Knight pledges. They were marched in full regalia through the streets, blindfolded, singing to a puzzled crowd.

In long underwear, helmets, un-mated boots and sox the pledges startled the police who put revolvers back in holsters to listen and laugh.

Skid row suspiciously watched through the bottom of their glasses and then swore off forever. "Where's the A.A. office?" said one drunk seeing these creatures carrying paddles and painted rocks.

Erickson Announces Intramural Sports

Plans for the new athletic program at BJC have been announced this week by Coach Laune Erickson, director of intramural athletics. Although intramural activities will not get underway until January 1, male students will receive athletic training in physical education classes. Currently classes are featuring touch football, with boxing, basketball, and tumbling being added later in the year.

The intramural program will be participated in by almost 100 per cent of the student body. A basketball league has been planned for winter recreation. Volley ball and softball are other sports which the intramural program will include.

BJC's Film Library Will Rent Strips

How many of you students are aware of the existence of a school film library? In case you didn't know about it, you should when you have finished reading "No Mickey Mouse."

The film library is under the direction of Mr. A. H. Chapman who is assisted by Joe Ann Men, secretary, and John Lear, film librarian.

It was formed in 1940 by a cooperative undertaking between Boise Junior College and about twelve other school districts. The film library is jointly owned by the members of the co-operative BJC takes care of the library up-keep while the other schools provide the money for the films.

Library hours are from 1 to 5 on Monday through Friday and through 12 on Saturdays. Any student or teacher may use the library much the same as would a library. If the films are requested to be taken out for showing, a fee is charged according to the film. If you wish merely proof read the film, there is no charge. If you can not find the film desired, it is possible to have it placed on the weekly order.

The library contains approximately 425 titles, 3 motor projects, 2 combination film strips, 2 2x2 slide projectors, 2 combination opaque 3/4x4 slide projectors, 2 tape recorders, 1 wire recorder, 1 play back, and 1 public address system. The films and equipment represent an investment of about $30,000. All of the films are of educational value, including a few cartoons, but it must be reported that there are a few "Mickey Mouse" cartoons.

Charles Gunnerson is using a mixture of cod liver oil and pulp to sprout the blonde bride he's sporting.

DORMITORY BUILDING FOR THE BOISE JUNIOR COLLEGE

She Was So Cute But She Lacked Her Transcript

Her stay in junior college was sadly of short duration. She enrolled rather late and was forced to withdraw soon after. Despite her short so-journ on the campus she created quite a stir among the other students, and the faculty too.

She was a quiet young thing, in fact, no one remembers her having uttered a word. Yet she captured the hearts of both men and women—a trait unusual in a woman. A piquant, sweet face and huge eyes were enhanced by a rich and colorful gown, that neatly encased her trim little figure. It was generally understood by those who became acquainted with her that "she had what it took."

All the usual activities of the popular coed were participated in by Jacee, as she was nicknamed. (She steadily refused to reveal her real name.) She visited the Union. No coke for her; careful of her figure she drank only milk. After listening to the chatter in the halls she retired to the ladies lounge.

In the lounge her troubles began. It is whispered (gossip, you know) that Mrs. Hart, custodian, asked her to leave because of unlady-like behavior. In organic chemistry, psychology and sociology classes she behaved very well, although it was soon ascertained that these subjects were over her head.

Late in the afternoon of her day at school Jacee was introduced to the dean of women, Mrs. Burke, by her bosom pals, Mary Scholes, Mary Alice Brennan and Barbara Basler. At this time it was finally decided that despite her popularity Jacee must leave college that evening.

Earlier in the day her housing problem had been solved when Rose Brunney asked her to come and live with her.

Jacee left school in Rose's company and everyone was sorry to see her leave so soon — But goodness! Who ever heard of a kitten going to college?

Dormitories Provide 'Real Living', Construction of First Complete January

A home away from home is the way President Chaffee, BJC, describes the new dormitories which will provide "real living" for the student residents.

President Chaffee has been working and planning towards the dormitories for almost ten years. While serving with the navy he continued promoting plans to provide dormitories for BJC students.

Chaffee introduced his ideas in the plans which were drawn by Hummel, Hummel & Jones who have done commercial architectural work in Boise for the last fifty years. They have designed all the buildings on the campus including the new stadium.

No expense has been spared to provide comfort. The buildings are divided into apartments which consist of seven single sleeping rooms, one double room, a bathroom, and a livingroom. This provides privacy as well as companionship and eliminates the long, narrow corridors seen in most college dormitories. The students will be able to use laundry facilities. Three sets of automatic washers and driers will be installed in each building.

The main entrance opens into the social room where the students may visit and entertain their friends. The house mother has rooms on the first floor where there is also a guest room. In the basement is a recreational room. The student apartments are located on the first and second floors.

So that the students will have no excuse for entering the wrong building, they are set at different angles and have different entrances. Each building has a different style social and recreational room, but all the rooms will be very modern and pleasant.

The dormitories are not only built for comfort but also for safety. They are made of brick with clay tile partitions and floors and ceilings are made of reinforced concrete. The main heating plant for the school will heat both dormitories.

Plans are being made to have the girls dormitory finished by the first part of January. Then work on the boy's dorm will be resumed.

Alpha Mu Prepares Students For Delta Psi

Alpha Mu, sponsored by Delta Psi Omega, the national honorary dramatic society, is an organization designed to fill in the gap for those students who have had no previous dramatic experience, and membership in Delta Psi. While Delta Psi membership is limited, Alpha Mu is open to any student interested in dramatics, whether or not they have had any previous experience.

The main advantage of this organization is that it gives students interested a chance to earn the necessary 1000 points in dramatics, to be considered for Delta Psi. These points may be earned by participating in plays, half-time skits, assemblies, union nights, and any other function on the campus connected with dramatics. For a major role in any of the major productions of the college, 600 points are awarded, with an additional 50% for appearing more than one night. A supporting role gives 400 points, and there is also a chance for earning the additional 50%. This point system is merely the basis for consideration for membership in Delta Psi. A prospective member must be voted in. New members are taken in once, and sometimes twice a year.

Alpha Mu members will get in practice for Delta Psi, by assisting with their productions. The officers chosen to lead the organization this year are: John King, president; La Rae Dunn, vice president; Gloria Crandall, secretary; and Marlene Rein, membership chairman. Advisors for the group are Jo Ann Cutler and Mary Lynne Hepner. Anyone interested in any phase of dramatics is urged to attend the next meeting, scheduled for Tuesday,

Oct. 17, at 12:30, in T1. Both the Alphas and the Deltas are hoping for a very successful and busy year.

Broncos Top ICAC With 21-7 Win Over SICE

The BJC Broncos moved one step closer to another ICAC championship with a 21-7 victory over the Panthers from SICE. The BJC is the only school in the conference which is undefeated.

The Broncos got a fast start when the opening kick-off was fumbled by the Panthers and Joe Fulwyler recovered it for the Broncos. A quick touchdown drive, which was sparked by a 25-yard pass from Larry Jackson to Ray Lewis, ended with Bob Wilder circling his left end from the 5-yard line.

Boise's second score was set up by a 62-yard run of Jackson's. He was hauled down on the 4. Dick Bader covered the remaining yards on the next play with a smash through the middle.

The Broncos picked up 2 more points when Fulwyler blocked a Panther kick in the endzone. It was scored as a safety.

Boise's final score was set up with a 35-yard gain on an end around with Nolan Ford carrying the ball. Wilder covered the last 15 yards on a reverse around his left end.

The Panthers scored their only score in the final period. Al Stearns sparked the drive from mid-field and he also scored from the 7-yard line. Dale Asher kicked the extra point.

Ray Lewis, who had missed the OTI game on account of injuries, played a stellar game at his left end position. Merlin Howard kicked one extra point out of three tries.

SHOE-SHINE SENSATION

The new machine in the union caused quite a sensation. Everyone had to get a look at it and many comments could be heard, such as "How does it (the shoe-shine machine) know what color your shoes are?" or "My shoes wouldn't know what to do with a shine."

Could it be a hint that the shoes in BJC need a bit of shining.

Roy Mosman

Larry Jackson

★ ★ ★ Sports Portraits ★ ★ ★

Roy Mosman, tackle for our undefeated Broncos, is quite a person if you look at his past record. Roy is spending his second year at BJC and he has done very well at the school. He has been selected as a Bronco of the Week because of his fine leadership and his performance upon the football field.

Roy was born on June 28, 1932, in Boise, Idaho. This makes Roy only 18 years old. Roy also has a younger brother, age 15, who hopes to become a star and follow in the footsteps of his older brother.

Roy lived in Boise for fourteen years and during those years he has built up a good name for himself. He attended the Boise schools and while in high school he became a good athlete. He was a three-year letterman for the Boise Braves in football, and a Big Six tackle his senior year. Roy also was a three-year letterman in track, and a one-year in basketball.

Today Roy is a pretty big fellow, and I suppose that one of the reasons for this is that he likes to play football so well. He hits the scales at 202 and is six feet and one-half inches tall. His greatest thrill is to be able to start with the undefeated Broncos. His favorite football player is Tex Coulter, Army tackle in the years of 1943-47. Roy also enjoys hunting and fishing.

Roy is undecided about the future, but we know that whatever he does, he will become a success.

The victory-minded Broncos use the single wing offense, which calls for a tail back, who is a slick ball handler and a tireless runner. Larry Jackson, Boise's current left half back, meets these requirements perfectly, and also adds a few extra talents of his own. The 173 pound sophomore not only carries and handles the pigskin, but also does the punting and passing, and is generally recognized as the offensive leader of the ball club.

Thus far this season, Jackson has accounted for four tallies via the ground route, and his passing arm has accounted for a similar number through the air. Although his offensive play may overshadow his work on defense, the lanky lad is a stand-out defender.

Jackson is not a one-sport man, as he prefers to take part in what ever sport is in season. Baseball is his first love, but the national past time does not keep him from participating in basketball, swimming and golf.

The curly-haired athlete has lived in Boise for 11 years, and graduated from Boise high school in 1949. He topped his football career there by being elected co-captain of the football squad, and finished his diamond prep days as one of the leading hurlers in the Big Six conference.

Last year, Larry experienced his finest thrill in athletics when he was a member of the Boise team that went to the Bakersfield Potato Bowl. However, his aim this year is an undefeated season for the Broncos, and a possible Little Rose Bowl bid.

THE VOICE OF THE BENCH

By Phil Roche

Meatballs

The junior college football squad from Boise have a reserve team known affectionately as the "meatballs." Members of this outfit are never stars on the night of a game, but their work in practice sessions contributes tremendously to the success of the Broncos. It's a rare afternoon when one of these hardworkers misses a practice, although they receive more bumps and bruises in workouts than do the regulars.

Coach Blankley realizes the importance of his reserve team, and is high in his praise of the organization. It is not because of lack of hustle or ability that the boys seldom play, rather, it is their inexperience which keeps them from the first team, as almost all are first year men. It is safe to state that before this gridiron season is over, fans will be seeing several present "meatballers" in important rolls.

The reserve squad has two duties to perform. The first is to act as defensive men as the regulars run their offensive patterns. They make it very rough for the first stringers, too, and are often tougher on defense than the teams the Broncos face. The "meatballs" also run opponent's plays against the first string. Some of the unsung performers are: ends, Dale Eden and John Curran; tackles, Keith Howell and Bob Clapp; guards, Al Supplee, Sid Connor, and Bob Hardisty; centers, Merlin Hanna and Bob Rodwell. Three backs in the form of Bert Crooks, Jerry Miller and Jim Lowry keep the varsity hustling.

Dagwood Bumstead and the Mailman

Dale Eden pulled a Dagwood Bumstead last Friday afternoon in practice. End Eden was chasing a pass when he ran smack into Big George Blankley. The coach was holding a handful of papers and plays (mailman) and when Eden hit him the papers flew in every direction and floated leisurely to the ground.

Blankley didn't think it was so funny, tho, as he spent the next few days hobbling on crutches.

Bench Jockeying

Lyle Smith still maintains an avid interest in his old ball club. This is brought out by the fact that before the last two games, he has telegraphed his wishes for a victory. He also wrote a letter to the squad expressing his delight with the victory over Oregon Tech.

Despite the fact that his leg "ain't broke bad", Earl Williams still isn't in uniform. The best the talkative halfback can do is run

Broncos Down OTI Owls 53-6

For the first time as head coach George Blankley coached the Broncos to a lopsided 53-6 victory over the OTI Owls. The Broncos had a 20-6 lead at the half. Blankley football talent and fighting bunch of Broncos put on a free scoring second half for Boise.

On the opening play of the game Jim Petuzzuri took the ball on his 10-yard stripe and dashed 90 yards for the first score. About three minutes later, high school Bob Wilder took the pigskin for a 67-yard run and another score.

The Owls scored the lone touchdown when a high pass from center was fumbled by Larry Jackson. The Owls recovered the Broncos 19 and scored four plays later. The Broncos stopped the Owls cold on the yard strip after the Owls blocked a Boise punt.

That was the first punt blocked against the BJC year.

Merlin Howard played an outstanding game on defense as an offensive. He made two returns of 49 and 38 yards, also dashed for a 31 yard td. added five more points with extra points after touchdowns.

Wilder and Bader led the team with two td's apiece. Both Wilder's scores came on 67-yard runs, and Bader's on short plunges. Petuzzuri's return of the opening kick-off, Jackson's yard jaunt, Howard's 31-yard and a 5-yard sprint by Miller completed the scoring.

through signals and help Blankley run the team.

The sports department of the paper has finally recognized girl's athletics, and has decided to do something about it. Henceforth we will endeavor to publicize in nine sports of BJC. Undoubtedly there are some first rate players on the girls' team.

Field Hockey Gals Downed by Caldwell

W.A.A. field hockey made its debut here last Thursday, as the BJC girls entertained the College of Idaho eleven. This was the first game of the season, and was played rather raggedly with the Caldwell girls coming out on top with a 3-1 score. After the game, a light supper was served by the W.A.A.

Many games have been planned in advance for the year, with the annual northwestern meet planned to assemble in Vancouver, B. C., sometime in November.
